Classes Start October 5th

Creative Theatrics empowers children with the confidence and skills to express themselves and perform in front of others.

We encourage the students to explore their imagination and fantasy lives, and to express that life through improvisation, storytelling, and dramatic text. The process culminates in the production of a play collaboratively created with students and professional artists. The 3rd-5th grade Ensemble performs a short run (for public audiences) of an originally adapted work in March 2011.

Past Productions include:

- Star Crossed - R & J in Outer Space* (2009-10)
- The Tuesday Project* (2008-09)
- Le Grande Ole Ginormous Opera* (2007-08)
- Frankenstein, "What's Ugly?"* (2006-07)
- Les Miserablue* (2005-06)
- 1001 – Arabian Nights Tales* (2004-05)
- The Odyessy* (2003-04)
- The Oz Project* (2002-03)
- Alice (& Alex) in Wonderland* (2001-02)
- Neverland (Peter Pan) and Islands* (2000-01)

Creative Theatrics teaches basic theater concepts, terms, and skills. Actors explore the use of their bodies and voices as they create characters and explore dramatic text. It is believed that young actors benefit from working with professional theater artists, who collaborate with the students to incorporate music & movement into the theatrical process.

Schedule Classes begin the week of October 5th.

Creative Theatrics is the educational wing of White Bird Productions, Inc., a 501(c)3 non-profit production company.
